

Tiki Talk with Otto von Stroheim

Chronicle / John O'Hara

Join your Western Art Directors Club pals for a happy hour at Trader Vics

What: Talk Tiki over drinks and appetizers
(No fee. No host)

When: Wednesday, November 1, 2006 @ 6:30 pm

Where: Trader Vics
555 Golden Gate Avenue in San Francisco

About Otto: In the past eleven years he has published seventeen issues of his zine, and written liner notes for Exotica reissues of Arthur Lyman and Don Ho, introductions to books, and magazine articles. He has appeared on local and national television (Home and Garden's "That Sixties Home" and Food Network's "Unwrapped"), National Public Radio's "California Report", and been quoted in nearly every major newspaper in America. Check out www.tikinews.com

About WADC: Since 1961, Western Art Directors Club has served as a beacon for graphic designers, photographers, illustrators, writers, educators, printers and students who strive to excel and be active in the communication arts. Based in the San Francisco Bay area, WADC primarily welcomes members from any state or province that borders the Pacific Ocean.